ANTHROPOLOGY

Major-Specific Coursework Overview and Recommendations

Here are some useful links for information about SSU’s Anthropology Program and advising and registration.

- Descriptions of the B.A. in Anthropology and the Minor in Anthropology can be found on the Department of Anthropology’s website.
- Names and description of anthropology courses.
- Department’s Advising website, including some information on careers in anthropology.
- SSU Catalog description for Anthropology.
- The department provides a course planner for the upcoming and following semester.
- Note: The most common required lower-division anthropology course not yet taken by transfer students majoring in anthropology is ANTH 200: Introduction to Language Studies (sometimes called Introduction to Linguistic Anthropology); this course is usually offered in the fall semesters, and should be taken as soon as possible after transferring to SSU.

Prerequisite Coursework and Permission Codes

Most of the anthropology upper-division courses (300- and 400-level courses) have lower-division prerequisites, usually the corresponding introductory course for that area (archaeology, biological, sociocultural, or linguistic). There are no prerequisites for any of our program’s 200-level courses.

- The prerequisites for our upper-division GE courses (ANTH 318, ANTH 341) are junior standing or above (i.e., having completed 60 units), and completion of the lower-division “Golden Four”.
  - ANTH 318, section 203 is NOT open to students not formally enrolled in the Liberal Studies program through Extended Education; only ANTH 318.001 and ANTH 318.002 are available (if not full).

- During the May 12 and 13 registration at NNO, please send any requests for permission codes to anthro@sonoma.edu (see below for required information).

- Registration remains open after NNO from May 14-27, please send any requests for permission codes to anthro@sonoma.edu (see below for required information).

- Registration reopens on July 25th, during this period please send any requests for permission codes to anthro@sonoma.edu, (see below for required information).
• When requesting a permission code, please be sure to include all of the following:
  - Your full name;
  - Your SSU ID#;
  - Your SSU email address;
  - The course number and section you wish to add.
  - If you took a course at any institution other than SSU that should count towards any course prerequisites, include:
    - The institution’s name,
    - the course number and name (at that institution), and
    - the semester you took the course.

Major Advising

During the academic year, students are encouraged to meet with faculty advisors, especially before course registration, but also at any other time to discuss interests in the major, possible career options and plans, and suggestions for compatible or complementary double majors and minors. Faculty advisors and their office hours can be found on the department’s Advising webpage. You may choose to meet with any of the advising faculty (note that not all faculty do advising; see the Advising webpage), whether due to their areas of specialization and interests (which can be found on their faculty profiles), or due to their availability at times convenient for students.

- Major advising over summer (after May 20th) may be limited. Please contact anthro@sonoma.edu for questions specific to Major courses and requirements. Please note that response time may take 2-3 business days.

- Contact a Transfer Advisor for general questions about GE, Transfer Credit Reports, and how to use mySSU.

- For summer advising, Prof. Ben Smith will be available on 6/21 from 10-1PM, on 6/28 from 10-1PM, and on 7/19, from 2-4PM. To arrange an advising meeting, students may reach out to the department at anthro@sonoma.edu. Be sure to provide your full name, your SSU ID#, and SSU email address.

- Any questions not addressed above may be sent to anthro@sonoma.edu; response time during summer break may take 2-3 business days.
Major-Specific Coursework Overview and Recommendations

- There are many reasons why you might choose to study math and stats!

- Most Math majors at SSU will want to begin with our calculus courses: Math 161 (Calculus I) or Math 211 (Calculus II).

- The programs in mathematics are somewhat “vertical,” meaning that many courses must be taken in a specified order. Because of this, it is important to start your math/stats coursework early and to meet with an advisor prior to registration as soon as possible and continue to see an advisor each semester to ensure you are making appropriate progress towards your degree.

Prerequisite Coursework and Permission Codes

If you are unable to enroll in a course due to prerequisite(s) not being met because of unprocessed transcripts, transfer credits not posted yet, etc., please seek help as indicated below. In each case, please provide the indicated contact with your Seawolf username and ID number, desired course number (e.g., MATH 161), and the 4-digit CRN listed in MySSU or Seawolf Scheduler of the desired course section, if appropriate.

- During the May 12 registration at NNO, please contact Susan Herring (herring@sonoma.edu) for permission codes.

- During the May 13 registration at NNO, please contact Martha Shott (shott@sonoma.edu) for permission codes.

- Registration remains open after NNO from May 14-27, during this period please contact Susan Herring (herring@sonoma.edu) for permission codes.

- Registration reopens on July 25th, during this period please contact Martha Shott (shott@sonoma.edu) for permission codes.

Major Advising

After your initial advising as part of NNO, please scroll to the bottom of our department’s advising page to find contact information for your major-specific advisor.

For students unable to meet with a major advisor in-person during NNO, please contact Susan Herring(herring@sonoma.edu) through May 27th. After May 27th, please contact Martha Shott (shott@sonoma.edu).

COMPUTER SCIENCE

Major-Specific Coursework Overview and Recommendations

The CS major is a fairly “vertical” major — we encourage students to start as early as their comfort and readiness allows. Students should not wait to take CS classes until they have completed lower division GE classes and should take CS major classes while completing lower division GEs.

GE Credit: CS101: Computing Technology and You (yields GE E credit) is open to majors and non-majors

For students who are GE eligible: We encourage taking CS115 and MATH 161 (or MATH 161A) in Fall.

For students who are not GE eligible, yet: We encourage taking CS 101 (to maintain interest in CS) and MATH 161A (to become GE math eligible) in Fall; then take CS115 in Spring.

- Department website and Fall 2022 CS Courses
- Course plan from the SSU catalog
- AP Exam placement: only the AP CS A exam yields credit for CS115
- Additional CS advising resources

Welcome to the Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice Studies!

We invite you to join us in the study of crime, criminology, criminal justice, and society. We offer a liberal arts curriculum concerned with the changing nature and content of law; the shifting public expectations of criminal justice agencies; the implications of diversity along the lines of race, gender, and class; and the reactions of those agencies to social perceptions and political pressures.

Please check out the CCJS department website. We are also on Twitter and Instagram.

Major-Specific Coursework Overview

- B.A. in Criminology and Criminal Justice Studies Degree Requirements (CCJS Major Core Requirements, CCJS Electives, and Criminal Justice and/or Social Science Electives)
- Available CCJS classes for First Time Transfer students:
  - CCJS 340 - Law Enforcement and Drug Legislation (4 units)
  - CCJS 375 - Current Issues in CCJS: Understanding Sexual Offending (4 units)
  - CCJS 399 - CCJS Lecture Series (2 units)
  - CCJS 407 - Police, Courts, and Community Relations (4 units)

Prerequisite Coursework and Permission Codes

Certain CCJS classes have prerequisites (e.g., must have junior status, must be graduating senior). If you are unable to enroll in a CCJS class, review the class description to make sure that you meet the prerequisites. If you meet the prerequisites and are still unable to enroll, it is possible that your Academic Requirements Report has not been updated with all your transferable coursework. In this case, contact the following CCJS representatives for assistance:

- During the May 12 and 13 registration at NNO, CCJS will be represented by Dr. Napoleon C. Reyes (May 12) and Dr. Diana Grant (May 13).
- Registration remains open after NNO from May 14-27, during this period please contact Dr. Napoleon C. Reyes.
- Registration reopens on July 25th, during this period please contact Dr. Emily K. Asencio.

Major Advising

The criminology and criminal justice studies programs have been designed to allow each student, in consultation with a CCJS faculty advisor, to develop an individualized program of study. CCJS faculty advisors are full time tenure and tenure-track faculty members. CCJS majors and minors should meet with their assigned CCJS faculty advisor regularly (at least once every semester) to make sure that they are progressing in their academic programs on schedule.
The Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice Studies assigns CCJS faculty advisors by students’ last name. For the Spring 2022 semester, the assigned CCJS faculty advisors are as follows:

- A-Ch: Dr. Emily K. Asencio
- Ci-F: Dr. Bryan Burton
- G-He: Dr. Diana Grant
- Hi-O: Dr. Patrick Jackson
- P-Sa: Dr. Napoleon C. Reyes
- Sc-Z: Dr. Anastasia Tosouni

Before requesting an academic advising meeting with your assigned CCJS faculty advisor, please review your Academic Requirements Report.

HISTORY

Coursework Overview and Recommendations

Welcome to the History Department at Sonoma State. Below, you will find links to the sections of the department’s website that can guide you through the process of advising and selecting classes. We don’t assign advisors to students. Instead, we encourage students to see whichever advisor has office hours when they are free. If history majors have questions during the summer, they should feel free to contact the department chair via email.

- Department Chair Welcome
- History Degrees and Certificates
- History Major Advising Sheet
- History Advisor Availability

Prerequisite Coursework

There are no prerequisites or permission codes for upper-division history courses. You can enroll in any upper-division major course which has open seats. However, you may not want to take the senior seminar in your first semester as a transfer at SSU. We encourage you to wait until your third or fourth semester on campus to take the senior seminar.

Major Advising

For help with advising after mid-May, please contact the History Department chair, Steve Estes at: steve.estes@sonoma.edu

Welcome to the Human Development and Pre-Human Development programs at Sonoma State!

Pre-Human Development is a program for students interested in majoring in Human Development. The program ensures that students receive the proper advising on the requirements to apply to the Human Development, a 40 unit interdisciplinary Bachelors of Arts program.

Human Development is a degree-granting program that takes as its object the human life course from infancy to death, understood as an object deeply shaped by social, cultural, biological, and political contexts. 20 units are taught in the HD core classes. 20 additional units can be taken from a variety of other disciplinary vantage points (i.e., in the "topical areas" of the major).

Students should consult the following resources about these programs:

- A description of the requirements of the HD major
- A description of the Pre-Human Development program
- A sample 4 year plan for the major
- Additional advising resource

Prerequisite Coursework and Permission Codes

The Pre-Human Development program counts as the set of prerequisites for the Human Development major. Please consult the “description of the Pre-HD” program” above for a list of the prerequisites. The Pre-Human Development program itself has no prerequisites. Any interested student may declare “Pre-HD” and take the (mostly GE classes) required for the program.

If you have completed the Pre-HD coursework and other requirements, you might already be an HD student (e.g., as a transfer student). In all other cases, you will need to apply to become an HD major; to do this, please reach out to the Program Coordinator of HD Dr. Ben Smith (smithbe@sonoma.edu).

If you need a permission code to register for an HD class, please contact Dr. Ben Smith.

Major Advising

Contact Dr. Ben Smith (smithbe@sonoma.edu) for any questions about these programs. Please see either Dr. Karin Jaffe or Dr. Ben Smith for help during the May advising sessions.

Welcome to Hutchins! We are excited to have you join the Liberal Studies major at SSU.

- Consult the Hutchins website for an overview of our 3 major concentrations: 1) Interdisciplinary Studies; 2) Elementary Teacher Preparation; 3) Blended Elementary Teacher Preparation + Teaching Credential Program.
- All transfers to the Liberal Studies majors have been contacted by Department Chair Dr. Stephanie Dyer in advance of Transfer Orientation in order to place you into the appropriate major track. Please contact Dr. Dyer if you have questions about your track or would like to change to a different major track.
- Students are advised to contact your assigned Hutchins major advisor to make a plan for fall registration before Transfer Orientation on May 12 and 13. If you are registering over the summer, contact Dr. Dyer for registration advising.
- All new Liberal Studies majors must register for LIBS 302 Introduction to Liberal Studies their first semester in the program.
- The Hutchins Office will be sending out Fall Registration Advising Memos for Track I, II, and III majors in advance of Transfer Orientation on May 12 and 13.
- Hutchins faculty advisors will be working with majors in the registration lab during on campus Transfer Orientation on May 12 and 13. Please make sure to join us for registration in the assigned room in order to avoid advising misinformation and ensure you enroll in the courses you need. Please be aware that Transfer Advisors and SSU Advising Center staff are not major advisors and cannot provide you with detailed major course advising. Only Hutchins faculty advisors can do that.
- If you are doing Transfer Orientation remotely, Dr. Kevin Nguyen will be available to assist you over Zoom on May 12. Dr. Ben Frymer will be available to assist you over Zoom on May 13. Email them for an appointment.

Prerequisite Courses and Permission Codes

The SSU Registrar’s Office may not have your transfer credit processed in time for Transfer Orientation on May 12 and 13. This will interfere with your ability to register for upper division GE and other courses requiring upper division standing. Know that your registration window continues until May 27 and you will be able to register for these courses once your transfer credit has been processed.

- The Hutchins Office will have permission codes for a limited number of courses to distribute to majors during the May 12 and 13 registration at NNO and afterwards. Details will be sent in the Major Track Advising Memos.
● Majors can contact Hutchins Administrative Analyst Billie Johnson or Dr. Dyer to inquire about a permission code.
● Registration remains open after NNO from May 14-27, and reopens on July 25.

Major Advising

If you are interested in joining the Liberal Studies major, please contact Department Chair Dr. Stephanie Dyer at dyers@sonoma.edu to discuss which of our major tracks is right for you.

Majors should contact your assigned Hutchins major advisor for help with registration. If you are registering over the summer, contact Department Chair Stephanie Dyer for major advising. Other faculty advisors will not be available over the summer.

Contact a Transfer Advisor for general, non-major related questions about GE, Transfer Credit Reports, and how to use mySSU.
Congratulations on being admitted to Sonoma State University! We are thrilled that you have chosen to finish your degree with us in Ukiah. The program coordinators and faculty advisors in the Liberal Studies Program have selected courses across Sonoma State’s curriculum that we hope will challenge and inspire you. We have so much to offer and are confident that what you learn in our classrooms will elevate you in reaching your dreams and goals. Major-Specific Coursework Overview and Recommendations

- There are many reasons why you might choose to study math and stats!
- In order to begin your upper-division coursework for a math major, you will want to be sure you have completed the Calculus series (Math 161, Differential Calculus I; Math 211, Integral Calculus II; Math 241, Differential Equations with Linear Algebra; and Math 261, Multivariable Calculus) and also have completed a course in mathematical proofs (Math 220).
- The programs in mathematics are somewhat “vertical,” meaning that many courses must be taken in a specified order. Because of this, it is important to start your math/stats coursework early and to meet with an advisor prior to registration as soon as possible and continue to see an advisor each semester to ensure you are making appropriate progress towards your degree.

Prerequisite Coursework and Permission Codes

If you are unable to enroll in a course due to prerequisite(s) not being met because of unprocessed transcripts, transfer credits not posted yet, etc., please seek help as indicated below. In each case, please provide the indicated contact with your Seawolf username and ID number, desired course number (e.g., MATH 161), and the 4-digit CRN listed in MySSU or Seawolf Scheduler of the desired course section, if appropriate.

- During the May 12 registration at NNO, please contact Susan Herring (herring@sonoma.edu) for permission codes.
- During the May 13 registration at NNO, please contact Martha Shott (shott@sonoma.edu) for permission codes.
- Registration remains open after NNO from May 14-27, during this period please contact Susan Herring (herring@sonoma.edu) for permission codes.
- Registration reopens on July 25th, during this period please contact Martha Shott (shott@sonoma.edu) for permission codes.

Major-Specific Coursework Overview and Recommendations

The Political Science program at Sonoma State University offers excellent opportunities for the study of government and politics. Over 40 courses cover all major aspects of the discipline. Students develop an understanding of human behavior as this relates to politics. They learn to discuss and analyze critically the many current public policy issues facing the United States and the world. They are taught how to analyze and understand world affairs and comparative politics. They are trained in the appropriate research techniques for the study of political processes. Visit our website for more information about Learning Outcomes, Courses, and Advising.

Students at Sonoma State can earn a minor or Bachelor of Arts in political science.

- Political Science minors must take a total of 20 units of political science coursework.
- Political Science majors must take at least 40 units of political science coursework.
- Political Science B.A. Degree Requirements

Prerequisite Coursework and Permission Codes

All Psychology courses require the completion of Introduction to Psychology (or equivalent at your school). This is the only prereq for Psychology courses. If your transcripts haven’t been evaluated by the time of registration, the system may stop you from registering by telling you you don’t have the prerequisite/s. If this happens, email Ashlyn Arend psych@sonoma.edu and Laurel McCabe laurel.mccabe@sonoma.edu right away. One of us will email you a permission code that you paste into the enrollment for that course.

- Online registration remains open until May 27. Most classes will be full, but some spots may remain. Consider adding a wait list if it’s a class you really want.
- Open registration reopens on July 25th, when anyone can register for a psychology class if there’s space available.
- If at any time you run into a wall with the system saying you don’t have the necessary prerequisites, email Ashlyn psych@sonoma.edu with the class name, number, and section (if there are multiple sections) for permission codes.

Major Advising

You will be assigned a Psychology faculty advisor in June after your transcripts have been evaluated by SSU Admissions. Until then, contact the interim department chair, Laurel McCabe laurel.mccabe@sonoma.edu, with questions until May 31; in the summer contact Ashlyn Arend.
psych@sonoma.edu. Note that faculty advisors do not work in the summer and will not be available to answer questions until classes start in August.

Major-Specific Coursework Overview and Recommendations

The Sociology Major is a 43-unit major, composed primarily of upper division courses. Requirements for the major are divided into core unit requirements (23 units) and elective requirements (20 units).

Information for the degree programs in Sociology can be found here:

- B.A. in Sociology
- Sample 4-Year Plan
- Minor in Sociology

A worksheet, with a list of Sociology courses and an outline of the requirements in the major is provided on the Sociology B.A. degree page and can be found here.

For advising on General Education and University requirements, please email the Advising Center.

Prerequisite Coursework and Permission Codes

The only prerequisite course for classes in the Sociology major is Introduction to Sociology. GE courses in Sociology are upper division courses, so they will require you to have fulfilled lower division GE prerequisites. If your transfer credits for Introduction to Sociology or lower division GE courses have not been posted and you are having trouble enrolling in upper division Sociology majors courses that still have open seats, please contact the Sociology department chairperson, Dr. Debora Paterniti, for permission codes. Permission codes can only be granted for courses that still have open seats.

- During the May 12 and 13 registration at NNO, please contact the Sociology department chairperson, Dr. Debora Paterniti, for permission codes for courses with available seats.
- Registration remains open after NNO from May 14-27, during this period please contact the Sociology department chairperson, Dr. Debora Paterniti, for permission codes for courses with seats available seats.
- Registration reopens on July 25th, during this period, please contact the Sociology department chairperson, Dr. Debora Paterniti, for permission codes for courses with available seats.

Major Advising

Advising is done by appointment through a Google docs sign-up sheet. Appointments are only 15 minutes long, but you may sign up for more than one with permission from the advisor during non-peak times of the semester. Office staff do not make appointments for faculty. Students must use their SSU email to access and sign up for office hours.
Sociology major advisors are full-time tenured and tenure-track faculty. Part-time lecturer faculty do not engage in advising. Advisor office hours start on the first day of class and end on the last day of class each semester. Faculty are not available for advising during the summer or winter intersessions. For advising during the summer or intersessions, contact the Sociology department chairperson, Dr. Debora Paterniti.

SPANISH

Major-Specific Coursework Overview and Recommendations

The culture and literary traditions of Latin America and Spain, the growing interest in the politics, culture, and commerce, in addition to the proximity of Mexico, the presence of a large Spanish speaking population in California and the University's service area, all contribute to shape the curriculum of the Spanish program and provide excellent reasons for the study of Spanish. The Spanish program offers a full range of courses in language, literature, and culture, as well as an interdisciplinary concentration with the Linguistics program. Courses taken abroad in the CSU International Program may be counted toward the major or minor.

Basic Prerequisites

These requirements may be substituted partially or completely by two or more years of high school Spanish, a high school advanced placement certificate or college transfer credits. Native speakers of Spanish with a high school degree from their home country will be exempted from these requirements.

The following courses constitute preparation for the Major or Minor when twenty to twenty-four (20-24) units are accrued. Some or all of these courses or the equivalent may have been completed in high school or at a community college.

- SPAN 101 (4 units)
- SPAN 102 (4 units)
- SPAN 201 (4 units)
- SPAN 202 (4 units)

Spanish Placement Evaluation

Students are encouraged to have a placement evaluation. Please see a Spanish program advisor for proper course placement. Previous coursework in Spanish or experience with Spanish will mean that students need not start with 101.

Spanish Major

For the Major, students must complete a total of 36 units. Of those units, 24 must be Spanish 300, 301, 304, 305, 306 and 307. The remaining 12 units is comprised of three classes at the 400-level from the following table, at least one of which must be Spanish 490 or 491.

- For a detailed list of courses please see here

Major-Specific Coursework Overview and Recommendations

- There are many reasons why you might choose to study statistics!
- In order to begin your upper-division coursework for a statistics major, you will want to be sure you have completed an introductory statistics course (Math 165), the Calculus series (Math 161, Differential Calculus I; Math 211, Integral Calculus II; Math 241, Differential Equations with Linear Algebra; and Math 261, Multivariable Calculus) and also have completed a course in mathematical proofs (Math 220).
- The programs in statistics are somewhat “vertical,” meaning that many courses must be taken in a specified order. Because of this, it is important to start your math/stats coursework early and to meet with an advisor each semester before registration to ensure you are making appropriate progress towards your degree.

Prerequisite Coursework and Permission Codes

If you are unable to enroll in a course due to prerequisite(s) not being met because of unprocessed transcripts, transfer credits not posted yet, etc., please seek help as indicated below. WOMEN’S AND GENDER STUDIES

WGS Major and Minor-Specific Coursework Overview and Recommendations

Join us in WGS! - “The Major You Use Everyday”

The Women’s and Gender Studies (WGS) Department welcomes all students who would like to learn about gender, race, ethnicity, sexuality, immigration, class, and ability. WGS classes are exciting learning environments where we read/discuss many current topics from feminist, intersectional, and justice-oriented perspectives. Majors in WGS go on to have fulfilling careers in: counseling, social work, law, teaching, health care, human resources, urban planning, business, leading non-profit organizations and more. To become a WGS major, minor, or Queer Studies minor fill out a “Change of Major” form on the Registrar’s webpage.
